AS THE FLOODS RECEDE THE LOSSES ARE

Family Wiped Out in Arkansas-Orede in Danger of a Torrent-The Work of Bellef-G. A. R. Men Aiding Their Unfortunate Comrades—The Biver Falling

LITTLE BOCK, Ark., May 27.—The first batch of mail in six days from Benton County was received here yesterday. It relates the story of the most appalling disaster that ever oc-curred in North Arkansas. The waterspout, which visited the town of Siloam Springs last Friday, resulted in the loss of three lives and the destruction of $100,000. About 9:30 o'clock in the evening, the jain began to fall, and by 10:30 o'clock, all the lowland in the town was submerged by water which swept every-thing in its course. The following is a partial list of the damages:

At Hico, an eastern suburb of Siloam Springs, nine buildings were washed away, and Mrs Martin and her six children, as their Springs, nine buildings were washed away, and Mrs Martin and her six children, as their dwelling went to pieces hung to the limbs of trees until they were rescued. C. D. Gunter suffered a loss of $400; F. M. Axtell, $300; John McNair, $500; O. R. Main, $1,000; M. N. Donaldson, $5,000; C. E. Noyes, $1,000; Wm. G. Hill & Sons, grocers, $800; Bert Hill, photographer, $400; Egy & Randall, drugs and groceries, $2,400; C. W. Hinds & Co., general merchants, $10,000; J. H. Chitty, miller, $3,000; A. H. Badd, $200; the Weekly Hummer, $400; Miss Ella Smith, $200; J. V. Tracey, $600; Dr. C. H. Green, $300; Dr. Anthony, $500; N. L. Lindsey, $300; Aifrey & Alfrey, general store, $400; T. R. Jones, liveryman, $600; D. R. Hammer, Postmaster, $1,700; W. A. Griffin, hardwars, $3,000; J. H. Hill, furniture, $1,600; Ragsdale & Wisner, plaining mill, $0,000; Quaker mills and Stafford's corn mill, $16,000; Quaker mills and stafford's corn mill, $16,000; Quaker mills and stafford's corn mill, $16,000; And the lower portion of the town was swept away. When the cataclysm struck Dr. Swallow's house the family, being very old, had restred for the night. It bore down all resistance, taking the doctor and his family, consisting of himself, wife and mother, carrying them down the stream, in which they were drowned. Dr. Swallow was a Frenchman by birth and had retired from business. He leaves a daughter and son in Kansas. His property consisted of several thousand dollars in notes, $500 in cash and a beautiful residence, all of which were swept away by the flood.

CREEDE IN DANGER.

ORBEDE, Colo., May 27.—Creede is in danger of being swept away. The melting of the snow on the ranges has caused Willow Creek to rise rapidly, and for the past week it has been running bank full. Last night it was almost out of its banks. The dikes are apt to give way at any moment. Residences along the Valley road are in a perlious position, for, once the dike gives way, there is no hope for the town, which is mostly bottom land. The dames that would result from an overflow can hardly be estimated. Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of machinery just shipped in would be destroyed.

FARMINGTON, Mo., May 27.—Among the minor effects of the cold and wet weather minor effects of the cold and wet weather which has so long prevailed in this section, it is said that wild birds are starving, beduced the usual crop of bugs, files, grasshoppers and other insects which constitute the staple food of the feathered tribes. Domestic bees have been dying by whole colonies; and it is thought that this is because the cold retarded the crop of flowers, while the rain prevented the honeymakers from visiting the few flowers that were open to them.

PALLING AT QUINCY.

QUINCY, Ill., May 27.—The river began to fall yesterday, and although there were many showers, no symptoms of a rise were manifested. Owing to the constant rains the roads are in a very bad condition, and communication with the surrounding country is almost cut off.

BONNE TERRE, Mo., May 27.—The St. Jos Lead Co. Band, composed of twenty-two musicians, under the leadership of Prof. J.

AIDING THEIR COMRADES.

DES MOINES, IO., May 27.—The Iowa Department of the G. A. R. has issued a call to all comrades to come to the aid of the old soldiers and their families who are sufferers by the flood. A committee has been appointed to receive subscriptions.

The Post-Disparch relief fund has passed the $15,000 mark.

Of this amount $11,000 were turned over to the Merchants' Exchange yesterday to be added to the fund raised by that body. The $11,000 was made up of $10,000 contributed by subscribers through the medium of the Post-Disparch and a check for $1,000 from Mr. Joseph Puliteer.

here is still a crying need for more money, his appeal to the people of Illinois, pub-ned in the POST-DISPATCH Yesterday, Gov.

fer says:

Tersopal observation of the flooded districts along a Mississippi and Illinois Rivers, embracing many addred square miles, convinces me that organized fort on the part of the people of the State is necesty for the relief of the destitute and needy, housands of men, women and children have been liven from their homes and rendered destitute, also the form their homes and rendered destitute, also house of supporting those whose homes and operty have been swent away, and this burden operty have been swent away, and this burden after the flood sufferers are mainly of the rieultural class, and the possibility of their beming again self-supporting depends upon their sility to raise a crop and resume their vocation as liter of the soil.

These words of Gov. Fifer emphasize the position of this paper. It will be some time before the flood sufferers will be self-supporting again, and they are therefore dependent upon the charity of their fellow citizens. It is to be hoped that nothing will be left undone which will enable them to recover their independence. The Governor's appeal is addressed to the people of Illinois, but in the presence of a calamity like the great flood of 1892 State lines should be ignored.

Charles Ludwig Wants to Right the Girl Charles Ludwig Wants to Right the Girl He Wronged, but Ris Mother Objects.

An attempt to right a wrong was made by Charles Ludwig in Chief Harrigan's office this morning, but the young man's good purposes were thwarted, at least for the present, by his mother. Ludwig is a weakly boy, 19 years of age, and until a few days ago he lived with his mother, Mary Ludwig, a widow, at 1236 Franklin avenue. He has been almost an invalid for life and was confined to his house until about one year ago, when he began to grow strong, and about one month ago he went to work in a North St. Louis shoe factory as a shoe cutter. Less than a year ago he became acquainted with Rimms Seegrass, a handsome girl, 19 years of age, who lives with her parents at 1119 North Fifteenth street. An attachment sprang up between them and their affection for each other became so marked it created comment. Ludwig made himself at home in the Seegrass household and until recently his mother offered no objections, but learning that there was a possibility of a marriage she forbade her son paying so much attention to the young lady. He was not able to support a wife, she said, and he was too young to get married. This objection led to quarrels and three days ago the boy took his clothes from his room and left. Mrs. Ludwig learning that the was about to marry Miss Seegrass, sent letters to the County Cierks at Belleville (III.) and Clayton and called on Recorder Hobbs. Yesterday young Ludwig called at the marriage license office and made a request for a license, saying he was 25 years of age. When told his mother find He Wronged, but Ris Mother Objects.

seem to be aware of the existence of this little colony, but it is well-known, of course, to the railroad hands, who have "chipped in" to supply them with food and other necessaries. Mr. Rogers says that Dick Lacey, a fellow switchman, went down into his own pocket on one occasion and fissed up S. 80 to relieve a specially appealing case of want.

The case of John Gibson's family is particularly touching. It is located in a Lake Erie & Western box car, No. 2640 in the "isiand." But for the yard fence, one might easily see the car on their way over the big bridge. It is north of the bridge approach, and on what is known as "Track 3½." Here, almost in plain sight of the great stream of travelers between St. Louis and East St. Louis, John Gibson's wife lies dying (it is foared) from excitement and toil necessitated by the food. She is prostrated with hemotrhages and passes from one faint to another, and poor Gibson fears that each relapse will be the last. Beside the wife there are two small children to be cared for.

Mr. Rogers said that he had heard considerable criticism of the statement attributed to Mayor Stephens of East St. Louis, that the town could get along without any aid from St. Louis. He feared that unless help came sooner than it now seemed likely to come, there would be very sgreat distress in the region of which he had been speaking. It would take months, he said, for these people to get into a condition, financially, to move. Houses to rent were held at enormous figures, and draymen were charging extortionate prices for moving. He alleged one instance where a widow was charged 20 to get her goods out of the house and on the wagon. She offered 10, and the teamster drove off as if insuited.

Since noon yesterday the flood has lowered between 10 and 12 inches, and the rate of the fall appears to be gradually increasing. The fall of the past twenty-four hours has been sufficient to leave railway tracks which were covered yesterday dry to day. In the Wabash, clover Leaf and Air Line yards preparations

A Fall of Six Inches in the Water—The People Hopsful.

Prospects brightened considerably in New Madison and Venice this morning when the people awoke to find that the water had gone down half a foot and more during the night. Several streets that were under water yesterday are showing above the tide to-day, and may be entirely clear by to-morrow. Many houses that contained only a few inches of water yesterday are being dried out to-day, and will be ready for occupancy. Weather Report of the Merchants' Ex-change—The River Failing. The following weather bulletin concerning the wheat and corn belt was posted to-day in the Merchants' Exchange by Observer Hammon of the Signal Service: A moderate area of high pressure is central in Mississippi Valley, which is causing nearly cloudless weather from Kansas to Ohio and from Canto Arkansas. From this crest pressure diminishes to a well-defined the pressure diminishes to a well-defined low area with its center in the Western part of Dakota, and having a trough-like extension reaching southward to Texas. Light showers have occurred in the Western part of North Dakota, in Northera Texas, Oklahoma and Southwest Kansas. These storm conditions will move eastward and will probably cause rain in the Mississippi Valley Saturday, and thence eastward as the storm progresses. Forecast for Missouri: Fair to-day, increasing cloudiness and probable rain in western portion to-night and in remainder of State Saturday; warmer to-night, nearly stationary temperature Saturday.

For Southern Illinois to-day increasing cloudiness and rain Saturday. Warmer to-day and Saturday. cloudiness and rain Saturday. Warmer to-day and Saturday.

The river has fallen three-tenths of a foot to thirty-four feet in past twenty-four hours. Both the Missouri and Upper Mississippi are falling, which will cause the river here to decline still more rapidly from day to day. Without heavy rain it will return within its banks by Mon-day or Tuesday.

PROF. BRIGGS' CASE.

Hearing of the Appeal by the Presbyterian General Assembly.

WHITE-WINGED PEACE SPREADS ITS PINIONS OVER HIS DESK.

Probable Return of All the Matter in Controversy to the New York Presbytery-Revision of the Confession of Faith Begun - Various Church Legislative Bodies in Session.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 27.—A floral column of red roses, fully five feet high, was placed to-day upon the desk occupied by Dr. Briggs in the Presbyterian General Assembly. The column was surmounted by a white dove with outspread wings. The attendance and which is only one of the troublesome outgrowths of the great Briggs question.

Dr. Briggs holds in this seminary the chair of Systematic Theology. On account of his doctrines or supposed doctrines the last General Assembly, after a long contest, voted to disapprive of his appointment to that chair.
According to the views of the majority on that occasion the appointment thereupon became invalid. The seminary directors held that, as Dr. Briggs had held another chair in the institution for many years, the appointment was merely a transfer and the Assembly had no power to veto it. Dr. Briggs has continued to hold his position in spite of the General Assembly

General Assembly.
One question will, therefore, be, what shall be done with this contumacious seminary and an attempt will be made to turn it out of the church altogether.

THE CHARGES.

The Charges.

Following are the charges against Dr. Briggs:
Charge 1. The Presbyterian Church in the United States of America charges the Rev. Charjes A. D. D. being a minister of the Presbyterian Church and a member of the Presbytery of New York, with teaching doctrines with condict irreconcisely wish and contrary to the cardinal doctrine taught in the Holy Scriptures and contained in the standards of the Presbyterian Church; that the Scriptures of the Old and New Testament are the only unfailable rule of faith and practice. These burtful errors, striking the vitals of religion and contrary to the regulations and practice of the Presbyterian Church, were promulgated in an inaugural address which Dr. Briggs delivered at the Union Theological Seminary in the city of New York Jan. 19, 1891, on the occasion of the induction into the Edward Robinson Chair of Biblical theology, which address has, with Dr. Briggs delivered at the Union the Edward Robinson Chair of Biblical theology, which address has, with Dr. Briggs declares that "there were historically three great fountains of divine authority—the Bible, the church and the reason"—thus making the church and the reason each to be an undependent and sufficient fountain of divine authority—the Bible, the church and the reason"—thus making the church and the reason each to be an independent and sufficient fountain of divine authority—the Bible, the church and the reason where the contract of the body that knowledge of God and His will which is necessary unto salvation, even though they strive ever so hard; that such persons setting saids the suppress authority of the werd of God can obtain that saving knowledge of God and His will which is necessary unto salvation, who is not the supplemental to the body, the personality of the body, the personality of the body, the personality of the word of God and His will which is necessary unto salvation, may turn from the supreme authority of the word of God and His will which is necessary unto salvation, may turn from the supre

When the case came up yesterday argu-nent was opened by Dr. Birch for the appel-ants. ment was opened by Dr. Birch for the appellants.

In his address Dr. Birch gave some reasons why the appellants have overleaped the synod of New York. This course is based upon the provision of sec. 100 of the Book of Discipline, that appeals shall generally be taken to the next superior Judicatory, ift was claimed (1) that this course of procedure is a constitutional form of government. Chapter 12, secs. 4 and 5, state that the General Assembly shall receive and issue all appeals, and shall have the power of deciding in all controversies respecting doctrine and discipline. While the appellant has gone around ordinary procedure, it has acted in a constitutional and regular manner. The present course is taken in erder to get constitutional advice, which the Assembly can give, in order to restore peace in the church. Has, importance.

3. The case involves dectrines which are fundamental to the church and of greater importance than any other question which has ever agricated it—the historic controversies that have concerned the relations of Gentile Christians to Hebrews, the doctrine of the trinity and the justification by faith.

4. A great question is now to be satised. The plea of appellants is enforced by the Presbyteries hererepresented, which have spoken to a number of more than fourscore in trampet tones in opposition to the views referred to.

5. The Presbytery of New York committed errors in its administration of law and compelled the committee to appeal:

nittee to appeal.

6. If the prescutor were an individual some how of reason might be presented why regular proledure should be followed, but the appellant is the church, and with abundant faith in the administration of the law, your appellants respectfully and earnestly ask the General Assembly to entertain our appeal.

Dr. Briggs took the floor to object to the entertainment of the appeal. The points made by Dr. Briggs were as follows:

The reasons presented by appellants are not such as to justify the General Assembly in entertaining their appeal. Four reasons res given: First their belief that this is one of the most important questions in the history of the Presbyterian Church. It is a valid reason why they should appeal to the synod of New York, provided they have a right to appeal, which we do not concede. But it is not a valid reason why it should appeal to the synod of New York and appeal to the General Assembly. If they can sustain their charges the synod of New York and appeal to the General Assembly. If they can sustain their charges the synod of New York and appeal to the General Assembly. If they can sustain their charges the synod of New York is the judicatory before which they should go, otherwise they must assign valid reasons for the opinion that the Synod of New York has you do New York and appeal to the General Assembly. If they can sustain their charges the synod as an intermediate judicatory ought to have its constitutional share in the proceedings. If the Assembly could do him such wrong. The second reason is the desire to secure a condemnation of errors of the defendant of the proceeding and the proceeding the second reason is the desire to secure a condemnation of errors of the defendant of procession and the holy Scriptures. He is entitled to the presumption of innocence until the Presbytery. These reasons cannot be entertained without prejudicing the case. The defendant has address is in entire accord with hely Scripture and the system of doctrine taught in the Wesiminster Confession. Again and again the Nas addresses is in entire accord with hely Scripture and the system of doctrine taught in the Wesiminster Confession. Again and again the Nas Dr. McCook then argued in behalf of the appellants, and at the close of his remarks the question was taken on entertaining the appeal, resulting in a larce majority in the affirmative. This action brought the case before the Assembly on its merits.

VOMEN ADMITTED TO PULPITS-SOME EDITO-RIAL COMMENT. BALTIMORE, Md., May 27 .- An editorial on the action of the Methodist Protestant General Conference at Westminster yesterday in declaring women eligible to the highest coun-cils of the Church, and the action of the Methodist Episcopal General Conference at Omaha, which voted to give laymen equal representation with the clergy in the general conference, will appear in the Methodist Protestant of this city, which is one of the two of-ficial organs published by the Board of Publi-cation of the Methodist Protestant Church.

th will say:

"Two great revolutions occurred in one day in the religious world. The dam needed only a small leak to begin with to break away from its rocky bounds, produce a flood and sweep away all movable objects in its away from its rocky bounds, produce a flood and sweep away all movable objects in its course. The Methodist Protestant Church has settled the question that women may be ordained to preach the gospel and be eligible to the legislative halls of the church, and, also without ordination, may be admitted to the same councils equally with male delegates. The head controls the body, even if the body nourishes the head. Some logically infer that women will be eligible universally in the church, not only to the gospel ministry but to all official positions now occupied by men. It must come to that. Do you object? It is of no use. The flood is coming. So the Methodist Episcopal Church has determined that its legislative body shall be composed of clerical and lay members in equal numbers. This principle of government established, creates the logical outlook that it must find illustration in all the official bodies of that church."

Rev. E. R. McGregor of the Methodist Protestant, says that in his opinion there will be a regular stampede of women in the Western conferences into the ministry of the Methodist Protestant Church and into official positions.

Henry, M. M. Gilliam and W. C. Preston. The report of the Committee on Foreign Missions was taken up and considered seriatim, and finally adopted as a whole.

The report of the Committee on Publications was taken up and after being carefully considered and amended as proposed by Rev. W. H. Reavell of Mississippi was adopted.

Rev. Roger Martin of North Carolina submitted the report of the Committee on Sabbath Schools which was adopted.

The Committee on Bills and Overtures reported a reply to queries submitted by the presbytery of Mecklenburg. Briefly the questions and replies are: 1. Do the Scriptures or the Presbyterian constitution recognize the office of synodical evangelist? Answer, yes. 2. Has the synod power to inaugurate and maintain evangelistic work in its bounds? Answer, yes. Queries 8 and ask a definition of said powers and prerogatives, and as to whether the synod has any constitutional right to make appointments for synodical evangelists. 5. Is it the ludgment of the Church that it is scriptural and wise that funds for church benevolence be raised by financial agants? Answer, yes. As to the expediency the church courts must determine each one upon its merits. The report was adopted with the exception of the last clause.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 27 .- The delegates to were slow in arriving this morning, and not more than one-half were in their seats when Moderator McDill called the assembly to order. The general committee on the prevalent evils in reference to what society needs to be reformed and the Christian methods to be used to attain that end, submitted a lengthy report in which reference was made to Sabbath deserration by railways, mails and newspapers, secret societies, murder, divorce, social evils, theaters, church lotteries and sambling. The report recommended witnessing of these eyils holding and faithwere slow in arriving this morning, and not fully by pulpit and press, especially the sins most favored by society. This would indicate a leaning toward Dr. Parkharsts' methods. The report of the Womans' Missionary Society showed contributions of $45,726, and an increase in membership of 1,084. It was decided to build a church at Sait Lake City and to send two women missionaries to Egypt. The report on the moral and religious interests of the army and navy deplored the scarcity of chaplains at posts, and urged the church to press Congress to supply an adequate number.

CUMBERLAND PRESETTERIANS.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 27.—Rev. T. A. Cowan of Stockton, Cal., led the devotional exercises at the opening of the Cumberland Presbyterian Assembly yesterday morning. The report of the Committee on Overtures was then read and adopted without discussion. The report of the Committee on Education was next read. It contends for the maintenance of denominational institutions as absolutely necessary, and shows that the Cumberland Presbyterian Church is doing as much or more in this way than any other church in proportion to its means and membership. It was adopted. Reports of the Committees on Finance. Correspondence, Sabbath Observance and Temperance were then listened to, after which adjournment was taken until afternoon. A few minor reports were read at the afternoon session, after which the assembly adjourned sine die. CUMBERLAND PRESETTERIANS.

METHODIST PROTESTANT CONFERENCE. WESTMINSTER, Md., May 27 .- The General Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church referred to the Committee on Com-Church referred to the Committee on Communications a resolution protesting against the appropriation of public funds for sectarian institutions. It states that the appropriation of any public funds, State or Federal, however collected, to any church, school, charity or institution under the control of any religious denomination or sect is an improper division of public money and violates the rights of every American citizen. A resolution was adopted favoring the passage by Congress of the amendment now before it, prohibiting the States from passing laws respecting the establishment of religion, or to use its property or credit or money raised by taxation for aiding in any way any church, religious denomination or any institution which is wholly or in part under sectarian or ecclesiastical control.

UNITARIAN FESTIVAL. Boston, Mass.. in Congress-Washington News Notes. WASHINGTON, May 27 .- Mr. Morgan, when business on the calendar was called after the meeting of the Senate, refrained from taking advantage of the position of his sil-ver resolution at the head of the ver resolution at the head of the list, to precipitate a renewed silver discussion before 2 p. m., when the free coinage bill comes up in regular order as unfinished business. He moved that his resunfinished business. olutions be temporarily laid aside without projudice. This was ordered and the Senate proceeded with routine business on the calendar until 2 o'clock. Among the bills passed were the following: To reclassify and prescribe the salaries of railway postal clerks the rates fixed are: First class, not exceeding $3.00; second class, not exceeding $1.00; third class, not exceeding $1.00; fourth class, not exceeding $1.00; fifth class, not exceeding $1.00; sixta class, not exceeding $1.600, and seventh class, not exceeding $1.600, and seventh class, not exceeding $1.600.

At 2 o'clock, when the silver bill was called up, Mr. Sherman said he wished to take the floor, but some information, he had sent for to the Treasury Department, was not ready. He suggested that the bill be postponed till Tuesday (the Senate having aiready agreed to adjourn over to-morrow and Decoration Day). Mr. Teller opposed postponing the bill, but agreed not to ask for a vote until after the Senator had spoken on Tuesday. After a deviltory discussion the bill went over till Tuesday.

At 2:15 p. m. Mr. Allison called for an executive session, and the Senate almost immediately adfourned.

Mr. Richardson (Democrat) of Tennessee then offered an amendment similar to the original, except that the Agricultural Department was not included. Adopted.
The committee rose and reported the bill to the House. A separate vote was demanded by Mr. Bingham (Rep.) of Pennsylvania on the amendment to strike out the appropriation of $625,000 for the Mint Building at Philadelphia. The amendment was rejected, yeas, 87; nays, 117.
Mr. Holman moved to reconsider the vote, and Mr. McAleer (Dem.) of Pennsylvania, moved to lay the motion to reconsider on the table, Mr. Holman demanding the yeas and nays on the latter motion.

AN INTERNATIONAL CASE.

CLAIMS OF AN AMERICAN TO NEW ZEALAND PROPERTY BEFORE THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.—The Senate in executive session has adopted resolutions reported to the Senate by Mr. Davis from the Committee on Foreign Relations concerning the case of William Webster, a citizen of the United States, whose claim for indemnity against Great Britain for land owned by him in New Zealand, was refused by that Govern-ment. Webster went from Maine to New Zealand in 1885 and engaged in business. He became wealthy and bought ness. He became wealthy and bought five hundred thousand acres of land from the natives. In 1860 Great Britain acquired New Zealand, and foreigners claiming land were directed to have their claims investigated by a commissioner. Webster claimed that he acquired his right to the land independently of Great Britain. His claim was ignored and the land was sold as public property. A long correspondence between the United States and Great Britain ensued. In August, 1891, Great Britain, in the letter to Minister Lincoln refused to entertain the claim. The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations holds that by the treaty of 1840 between Great Britain and the natives of New Zealand the native rights to the land concerned were confirmed, and that, therefore, Webster's title is good. The Senate resolutions convey to the President power to take measures proper to secure to Mr. Webster a just settlement and final adjustment of his claim, and particularly requesting the President to propose arbitration.

Charles Doling Was Insane and Cut His Threat. SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 27 .- Charles Doling, son of Hon. James M. Doling, one of the wealthlest men of this city, suicided at 1 o'clock this morning by cutting his throat with a razor. He had been despondent for some time, and it is supposed that he was insane at the time he committed the rash shot by Officer McDonough on Tuesday night, died last night about 10:30 o'clock at the City Hospital. Weldon was 80 years old, and lived with Mollie Hefferman, who claimed to be his wife. She was with him constantly after he was taken to the bospital. The shooting is alleged to have been done in self-defense, but Weldon's statement last Wednesday morning to a Post-Distatch reporter conflicts with alleged statements hitherto published. Weldon admitted having assaulted McDonough, but claimed that when he was shot Officer Varwig was holding his arms and that he was making no further hostile advances toward McDonough. Weldon further stated that after McDonough weldon further of his alleged beating he showed several ugly cuts and bruises about his head.

An inquest will be held to-morrow. shot by Officer McDonough on Tuesday night,

The Incident Will Be Used by Conservatives in the Approaching Electionslution of Parliament Forecasted -Silver Depression Affecting Cuban Commerce-Foreign News

LONDON, May 27.—The news from America that the authorities of New York refused to raise the British flag on the Queen's birthday has caused a decided sensation, as it is gen-arally considered in England as a reflection oot so much upon the Queen as the English copie, in view of the fact that other foreign ags are said to be freely exhibited on the ublic buildings. Lord Salisbury is said to be much encour-aged by advices which he has received from all parts of three kingdoms, and while he does not expect the sweeping majorities of 1886, he believes that the Conservatives have kept sufficiently apace of the increase of the voting list to insure victory and a good ma-jority.

DEACON TO BE RELEASED. PRESIDENT CARNOT WILL PARDON HIM ON BAS-

PARIS, May 27.—The Gaulois says to-day that a petition to President Carnot from Mr. Edward Parker Deacon, asking for a pardon, has been presented and that Deacon will probably be released on July 14, the Bastlie anniversary. It is the rule in France that the President cannot pardon a convicted person unless the latter has asked for the pardon unless the latter has asked for the pardon and a petition from Mr. Deacon was necessary to enable the President to act. This rule is departed from in the case of the Duke of Orleans, who was sentenced to prison for coming to France in violation of the law which excludes the families of pretenders to the crown. President Carnot released the Duke without having been petitioned by the latter for release and Carnot was subject to considerable criticism for his action at the time. Mr. Deacon, it is also stated, will probably prosecute his wife on the charge of probably prosecute his wife on the charge of dultery unless she gives up the children to im. GIOLITTI'S CABINET.

RESIGNATIONS TENDERED AND REPUSED-A

DISSOLUTION PROBABLE. ROME, May 27 .- Sig. Giolitti, the new Prime Minister, announced to the Chamber of De puties to-day that the members of the Cabinet had tendered their resignations to King Humbert, but that His Majesty had re-King Humbert, but that His Majesty had refused to accept them. He, therefore, asked the Chamber to pass the most urgent bills now before it and to grant the government a vote on account for the next six months. The Prime Minister's announcement caused a great sensation in the House. It is generally taken to portend that the dissolution of the House is imminent. There is no doubt that the resignation of the Ministry was precipitated by the vote taken in the House yesterday on the question of confidence in the Ministry. The result was a victory for the Ministry, but the margin was so close that had thirty-eight question of conneence in the Ministry. The result was a victory for the Ministry, but the margin was so close that had thirty-eight who abstained from voting cast their votes against the Government, the Ministry would have sustained a defeat.

The new Cabinet was only definitively formed on May 15, and its practical over-throw has therefore been a matter of only a few days. The preceding Cabinet, at the head of which was the Marquis di Rudini, was; defeated by a majority of 8 on May 5, on its demand for a vote of confidence.

SILVER DEPRECIATION IN CUBA-POSTAL UNION

HAVANA, May 27 .- Owing to the heavy importation of silver from Spain, over $10,000,ment of the year, lanother monetary conflict retail tradesmen will accept the dollar only or 95 cents because of the discount on silver as against gold. In parts of the interior of the island Mexican silver is only accepted at the rate of 70 cents on the dollar. According to the local newspapers the Directors of the sagua Raliroad Co. have determined to build all the freight and passenger cars they may hereafter require in their own shops, importing from the United States only the iron portions necessary for their construction.

POSTAL UNION EXTENSION.

LONDON, May 27.—Sir Charles E. Van Smith, British Minister to Morocco, who recently went to Fez on a diplomatic mission, has been given audience by the Suitan. Among the matters discussed were the questions of Morocco entering the postal union, the landing of telegraph cables at Moorish ports and the construction of a railway from Tangiers, the diplomatic capital, to Fez, where the Suitan generally resides. The Sultan expressed himself favorable to all these propositions. POSTAL UNION EXTENSION.

AGRARIAN OUTRAGES. ODESSA, May 27 .- Baron Mans, a banker Opessa, May 77.—Baron Mans, a banker and merchant, recently received a demand from an anony mous source for 80,000 roubles to be given tenants on his estates in Podolia, who were said to be suffering from famine. He paid no attention to the demand, and the consequence was that his farms, valuable granaries, and other property, were burned, and his horses and cattle were turned loose. The Baron is now seeking military protection against further outrages.

MONTREAL, May 27.—Col. Cole of the Montreal Artillery Garrison called on Gen. Knapp, United States Consul General, yesterday, and apologized for the outrage committed by some irresponsible members of his corps in ordering the United States flag down from various stores on the Queen's birthday. He gaid that neither the officers of his corps nor any of the military officers in the city sympathized with those who had taken the flags down. If the offenders were discovered they would be severely punished. Consul General Knapp has sent a statement of the facts to Washington.

some Interesting Facts Concerning This Immensely Rich Family.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The death Sunday of William H. Vanderbilt, eldest son of Cornelius Vanderbilt, recalls some interesting facts concerning the wealth of this has just died was 21 years old Dec. 21 last. He possessed $1,000,000 in his own right as a legacy from his grandfather, after whom he was named and whose prime favorite he was. He was to have only the income of this until he was 30. But this handsome fortune was overshadowed by the fact that he was the oldest son of one of the richest men in the world. He had not made a will, as his $1,000, was overshadowed by the fact that he was the oldest son of one of the richest men in the world. He had not made a will, as his $1,000,000 was a comparative pittance.

Old Commodore Vahderbilt, the greatgrandfather of this young man, devised nearly all of his fortune of $90,000,000 to William H. Vanderbilt. Cornelius Vanderbilt, the deceased's father, received $5,000,000 and the other grandsons of the Commodore $2,000,000 each. Though William K. Vanderbilt increased his fortune to $5,000,000 he was credited with having lost most of it before his father died. Cornelius had lost in speculation $5,000,000 of the $8,000,000 he had accumulated. William H. Vanderbilt had increased his fortune to $160,000,000 when he died. To each of his eight children he bequeathed $10,000,000 and $5,000,000 was set aside, the income to be used for Mrs. Vanderbilt. The remainder of the estate was divided between the two eldest sons, Cornelius and Wm. K. Vanderbilt. In round numbers they receive $55,000,000 each, which, with their $10,000,000. Cornelius already possessed $5,000,000.

This fortune has been judiciously managed until it is now estimated that Cornelius Vanderbilt is worth $110,000,000. To this the boy who has just died was heir. It lenves his next youngest brother, Cornelius Vanderbilt, at 18 years of age, prospectively the Crossus of the world. The other children of Cornelius Vanderbilt, at 18 years of age, prospectively the Crossus of the world. The other children of Cornelius Vanderbilt, st., in order of age are Gertrude, Alfred, Reginald and Gladys, who is 5 years old.

The wealth of the Vanderbilt family is pliing so fast that the combined sum is estimated to be about $300,000. The estimated to be about $300,000. The estimated to be about $300,000. The setimated to be about $300,000. The setimated income per annum is $15,000,000. No other family in the world is so rich. If kept intact the total fortune at the end of twenty-tive years will have reached almost $1,000.000,000,000,000. The setimated by the swift progressio

The increase since then has largely augmented the total, The source of the increase is plain and natural. The Vanderblits have claimed that theirs was the best-invested fortune in the world. The Vanderblit policy has eschewed the Astor tendency of real estate investment, holding that the best ceurities give greater returns than real estate.

The Vanderblit wealth, if kept intact, will increase, the regular rate of 5 per cent interest being compounded semi-annually, as follows:

In twenty-five years, or by the time the new heir, Cornelius, Jr., is 43 years old, his father's forture, of which, judging by pre-cedent, he will get the bulk, will have reached $377,000,000. The other family holdings in-creasing likewise by ordinary investment, with this, will amount to $941,000,000.

INDIAN LAND ALLOTMENT.

The Chippewas Refused to Accept a Reduced Acreage.

WHITE EARTH, Minn., May 27 .- One of the largest and most enthusiastic councils ever held in White Earth met yesterday. The Indians listened to the reading of certain communications from the Indian Office by the agent in the nature of a positive man-date for the Indians to accept the allotment of eighty acres of land instead of the 160of eighty acres of land instead of the 160-acre apportionment to each man, woman and child. The Chippewas of Minnesota, represented by their chiefs and leaders, em-phatically decline to accept any terms what-ever which stipulates any conditions other than 160 acres of land to each man, woman and child. The Indian chiefs, some twenty-seven in number, have transmitted their final answer in a long letter to the Secretary of the Interior.

CONNERSVILLE, Ind., May 27.—Quite a novel wedding took place yesterday afternoon, in which a Connersylle young man was one of the contracting parties. Mr. Harry McIntosh, the contracting parties. Mr. Harry McIntosh, ticket agent for the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Indianapolis railroad, and Miss Mary Mullen of Rusbville, were united in marriage on the rear platform of the vestibule train which passes eastward through this place at 5:43. While the train was running from Rushville to the county line the ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. MacNell of Rushville. Mr. Lowell Spurrier officiated as best man, and Miss Pearl Hornaday as bridemaid. The whole party went through to Cincinnati and en route a banquet was given the bride and groom by the railroad folks. The wedding was a surprise to the relatives of the contracting parties. of Criminal Correction was tried yester-day afternoon and the trial proved to be a big farce from begin-ning to end. Judge Krum, the attorney for the dive keepers, started in with the de-termination to have some fun and all through the trial his principal endeavor seemed to be to raise a laugh in the court room. He talked of Cleopatra in undress, Hamlet's ghost, spirits of the deep and "Venus" wine every time he saw a chance to make a hit and rais a laugh, and he recited poetry by the yard. The defendant was George M. Spence, pro prietor of the Palace Theater and se attachment on Seventh and Elm streets and the witnesses were a policeman, a newspaper reporter and several of the females employed in the theater, Spence having been indicted for employing females other than his mother, sister, daughter and aunt in a "saloon, dramshop or other place in which liquor is sold." Judge Laughlin represented the State in the prosecution represented the State in the prosecution, having been engaged for this purpose by several public spirited citizens. He showed by the testimony of Officer Heath and some of the other witnesses that Spence's theater and saloon were one establishment; that the street doors to the theatrical part were closed and barred and that the only entrance to it was through the saloon attachment; that the patrons of the theatrical portion of the concern were the theatrical portion of the concern were required to patronize the bar in the saloon portion and were also expected to buy more drinks after entering the show room; that beer and wine and whisky were sold to the beer and wine and whisky were sold to the patrons in the show-room as well as the saloon; that the girls employed on the stage circulated among the men in the gallery, sat at tables with them and induced them to treat to beer, wine, whisky and other liquor, and that each girl was paid 15 per cent of the money received by the house in this way.

A OURER ARGIMENT.

When Officer Heath was on the stand Judge Krum offered an objection to almost every question asked by Judge Laughlin, but the objection was in nearly every instance over-ruled. It was evident that Krum was trying to be funny and at the same time to annoy the prosecution. When Officer Heath was asked if women took part in the farces presented in the Palace Theater and if they recited or talked any, Judge Krum broke in immediately with his customary objection. "I object," said he. "Nobody ever heard of a situation where a woman did not do the talking if she had a chance. When the officer was asked to describe the dresses in which the singers were attired, Judge Krum of course objected.

"What difference does it make?" he asked. "Can't a naked woman sing?"
"Did you ever see one?" asked Judge

"Lots of 'em," replied Judge Krum, "and," he added, "Mrs. Fairweather, who employed you, ought to get counsel who knows more about such matters. A woman can sing in any garb if she can sing at all," and the Judge looked around at the jury and emiled again. smiled again.

Judge Claiborne: "I think so myse if. This Judge Claiborne: "I think so myse if. This is a question of singing and not of garb."

Judge Laughlin proceeded to explain his position and was interrupted by Judge Krum, when he begged the interrupter to let up with his nonsense, saying that he could not present the case and represent the State properly unless given a chance. He desired to offer this evidence that the jury might be able to decide as to what punishment should be given to the defendant. If it were shown that these women wore long dresses, with high necks, then the jury could assess the lighest punishment, but if it were proved that they yiolated every rule of decency in that they violated every rule of decency in their attire, the jury should give Spence maximum punishment provided by the

in such cases.

Judge Krum followed with one of his funny Judge Krum followed with one of his runny speeches, in which he said that Judge Laughlin was viewing this case through Mrs. Fairweather's specs, and then Judge Claiborne decided against the dress testimony. 'Take the witness, then,' said Judge Laughlin, turning him over to Judge Krum for cross-examination.
Judge Krum: "I don't want him."

THE "GIRLS" EXAMINED.
One of the theater girls was next called and she proved to be a middle-aged woman who said she was Mrs. George West of Cincinnati. said she was Mrs. George West of Cincinnati. She and her husband were sketch artists at the Palace, she said. Two performances were given daily at the theater, afternoon and evening, and some eight or ten "ladies" were employed on the stage. They took turns in singing, dancing, playing, etc., on the stage, and when not so engaged sat in the "cafe" or gallery talking to and drinking with the patrons of the place, all of whom were men. Judge Laughlin asked if Mr. Spence, the proprietor, was one of the performers.

Witness: "He plays the violin some times."

Judge Krum: "The first or second vio-

witness: "He plays the violin sometimes."

Judge Krum: "The first or second violin?"

The witness couldn't answer that question and then Judge Laughlin said that Spence was not a violinist but a fiddler.

The witness was rather ancient looking, but when asked her age she blushingly replied "16." She was Mrs. Jessie something or other and called herself a song and dance artist. She had been that kind of an artist for three years, but she declined to state what salary she drew, and the court sustained her in her refusal. She admitted, however, that she received is per cent of the money which the house received from her "friends" for drinks and cigars.

"Sweet Sixteen" was followed by the best looking and best preserved woman placed on the witness stand yesterday afternoon. She confessed to being 42 years old and said that she had been singing at the Palace twenty weeks. She wore a heavy, long black veil and said when asked if she was maried, that her husband had recently died.

One of the questions asked her was as to the number and class of people who occupied the "cafe" during the performance. She said that the patrons there were generally few in number, not more than a dozen or two, and like the audience in the parquet, they were all men or gentlemen, the only ladies in the house being the stage performers. These ladies sat only in the gallery.

Judge Laughlin: "The men in the gallery are mostly old baldheads, aren't they?"

The witness smiled and the spectators laughed and then Judge Krum asked her if she ever saw Judge Laughlin there.

Two or three other of the female employes gave testimony similar to that already given and then the last witness for the performances at the theater. He saw and heard to having attended several of the performances at the theater. He saw and heard in the vicated, the same and any other employed and they were some of the female singers and dancers were present.

CRITTENDEN'S WARNING.

Ex-Gov. CRITTENDEN in a published inerview speaks like a bitter partisan of the ancient history of the Republican party in Missouri, but he winds up with a much needed warning to the Democrats as to how the offensively ostentatious bossism of PHELPS, CARROLL and other railroad attorneys is viewed and likely to be resented by farmer Democrats in country school-house meetings, We don't believe that ex-Gov. CRITTENDEN minded much his being beaten for delegate-at-large by both PHELPS and CARROLL, two of the railroad attorneys who, as Democratic Committee men, bossed the Sedalia convention. But what he saw there of the power of the free pass peddlers convinced him that the warning voice of the Post-Dispatch should be vigorously seconded, if the Democratic party is to be saved from the foolhardy experiment of entering the campaign with a State and Supreme Court ticket plainly nominated by the recognized and well-known political agents o the railroad combine.

WORKING THE NEGRO.

Congressman JOHNSON of Indiana plainly spoke not only for the Administration party but for the Administration itself when he raised the old bloody shirt howl and repeated the old force bill speech in the House, Wednesday. Such speeches and those by which FRED DOUGLASS is uniting the colored churches in a new Republican campaign crusade against the South for new force bill and a new office for FRED DougLass and his white wife to bask in, show that HARRISON is privately as fierce a force bill advocate now as he was before the elections of 1890 closed his mouth on that subject. Against such campaign yawps we pit the testimony of the Republican editor of the Creston (Io.) Gazette, who, returning recently from a sojourn in the South, writes as follows:

This much only have I learned, that in all these race conflicts it is very difficult to get at the true status of affairs, as both sides are generally far from blameless. The negroes are not angels by any means, and the white they get along as well as they do. Turn the case about and put Southern negroes along-side of Northern white men, and I am certain that more conflicts would occur than down here. The Southern white man and South ern negro, as a rule, seem to understand each other pretty well; the Northern white man understands neither the Southern neg

AN ERBONEOUS VIEW.

The Memphis Appeal-Avalanche enters a protest against what it calls "sensational descriptions of the ruin and havoc caused by the floods in the Mississippi River. ing and that if the waters recede no ill that the overflow is in the nature of the Johnstown flood, it asserts, is absurd. It is certainly absurd to compare the loss of life in the Mississipp i flood with that of disappointment may, and that would be the Johnstown cateclysm, but it is just as absurd to compare the loss of property in the latter with that of the former. The two disasters are totally different. In one the volume of water penned up in a dam was concentrated in a deep ravine and swept a town away and in other the swollen stream of a monster river spread over the lowlands of a valley that divides the continent. The loss of life is not nearly as great as in the Johnstown case, but the destruction of property is enormously greater. Thousands of homes have been destroyed or rendered uninhabitable, millions of acres of farming lands covered with growing crops have been submerged and a vast quantity of stock and personal property swept away. The Appeal-Avalanche represents the situation of the rich planters when it speaks of the flood as a mere inconvenience, but it overlooks thousands of poor farmers and villagers who have been rendered utterly destitute. These people have lost their present means of ilving, the opportunity for employment and the fruits of their labor for the coming year. Bitter ure stare them in the unless generous aid supplying necessities them. The Appeal-Avalanche is as far wrong in its view of the effects of the flood disaster as the most extreme view of the kind it condemns. Fortunately people able to help the flood sufferers realize their true condition and are responding nobly to the appeal in their behalf. WHEN Mr. BLAINE removed Librarian BANCROFT to a consulship already filled for the purpose of making room for a friend, there was no intimation that the removal was made on account of incompetency. When, however, the act was severely criticised Mr. BLAINE wrote a characteristic letter in which, while making it appear that the manner of Ban-CROFT's removal was an amiable method of shielding his shortcomings, he accused him of gross unfitness for the office. Mr.

Those who recognize fully Mr. BLAINE'S splendid abilities are compelled to view him with distrust because he has shown himself capable of just such little trickery. His position should not be permitted to stand in the way of bringing out the truth as a matter of simple justice.

THE Grand-jury is reported to be investigating the straw-bond business and the pardoning of Work-house criminals. There is a rich vein of corruption in this lead which would yield abundant evidence of corruption if properly worked. There is no more disgraceful feature of the maladministration of justice in this city than the ease with which violators of law escape the consequences of their acts through the leniency of court officials and the abuse of the pardoning power. Much of this evil is due to political influence and it gnaws at the root of good municipal government.

ANOTHER WARNING.

Railroad Attorney Bossism Ruinous

From a Republic Interview with ex-Gov. Critte "I speak of the prominence of railroads in Democratic conventions, I think certain railroads, through their attorneys, are tax-ing too active a band in the legislation and convent ions of this State. The Missouri Pa-cific is the head and front of this offending. At the late Sedalia convention its representapasses for all who would vote for its com ne, walk into its parlor and see its beauti ful pictures. If this thing is not stoppe people, 'the plain, common people as Mr. Lincoln calls them, two event the State, and will certainly destroy the use fulness of the party: First, the roads will nominate the State officers and the Supreme Court Judges, thus controlling the Board of Equalization, which places the values on the oads; and, secondly, the decisions of that court, which determine the liability of roads for death and personal damages, the killing and injuring of stock and damage by fire to farms will be more or less influ enced by the controlling spirits of the various railroads. These times are rapidle oming and will certainly be on us if the eople don't say in strong and unmistakabl odies belonging to railroads, 'Get thee be leading road is in the market at Kansas City St. Louis Judical Convention. Why is this? That road is not spending its time and money for naught. It is done for a purpose, and very ermine of the court itself. When that feguard of the rights of the people is a commodity in the hands of railroads, then a dark day has come indeed to Missouri. I speak plainly to the people as I think there is anger ahead. It is well for the party leaders to watch these danger signals. Already it is charged over the State in country school houses and County Conventions, that the Democratic party is being led too much by certain railroad attorneys, Republican as well as Democratic, whose faces are as con non around Legislatures and State Conven tions as are those of office-seekers and dead-beats. I speak in the words of soberness and truth to the people, with no personal feelings against those attorneys, as many of them are my old-time friends. I speak at this crisis in the interest of the Democratic party, as I sol emnly believe its future supremacy in this own business, independent of the other. "If the railroads do not control this Judicial convention, three able, independent and mpartial men will be nominated, who will know neither friend nor foe on the bench men who will know the law, and knowing it will not hesitate in declaring it, untwisted and untortured, to please a Dives or a Laza rus, without fear, favor or affection. The people want men nominated for such judge ships who will tremble before no power, me who, in the words of Judge Leonard, will say, 'Let no polutted hand touch the pure undations of justice.' Like any other lawabiding citizen, I only desire the convention to nominate able, honest and fearless men, who will make the Missouri reports a pride to the bar and an honor to the bench."

A repetition o that mistake at the Jefferson City convention when candidates for the State offices are named will be fatal. The steamer Fawn from St. Charles was carried by the fearful current out of the regular channel of the river and was stranded in a wheat field an eighth of a mile from the river proper. The Post-Dispayon boat, by means of long hawsers, succeeded in getting the Fawn back into the channel.

A messenger reached Alton at 5 a. m., after rowing ten miles from an island southwest of the mouth of the Missouri River. He stated that there were over sixty persons on the island, which was rapidly being inundated. The messenger reported that the water was already in the first floors of many houses and he occupants were climbing to the roofs of the buildings. Grain Futures and Prices.

Editor of the Post-Dispatch: The daily market reports ought to satisfy any reasonable mind that the buying and selling of futures on grain is not regulated by the prospective supply, the demand being usually the same, for the people must be fed. Any man who reads the crop reports from the great grain producing sections must see that the wheat crop will fall at least one-half short of the usual crop, while no sane man would have the impudence to pray for more than one-third of a corn crop. If we make that the most productive lands—the bottoms—are either overflowed or so saturated with moisture that they will not be tillable this season. Notwithstanding all these facts, there is but little advance in the price of grain on the markets. Those who think that there is a large amount of grain in the hands of farmers are badly mistaken. This writer does not own a bushel of grain, and has no corn to sell. He is a country editor who is in favor of a law that will prevent gambling in the produce of the farmer.

The city now gets nearly $600 a month less. The greater part of this is paid over by the Marshal to men who present to him remits of the fines, signed with a stamp, "E. A. Noonan, Mayor." The Grandjury is now working on evidence going to show that much of this money never found its way back to the peo-ple who paid the fines, but was stolen by men who got the remits from the Mayor's office and collected the fines from the Marshal. THE WITNESSES TO-DAY.

The proxy Secretary, James W. Brennan, was summoned before the Grand-jury to-day and so was Police Sargeant Alex. McGrew, who came with a bundle of papers showing what the Mayor's office had done in the way of remitting fines and pardoning men from the Work-house.

Supt. John Lobrum of the Workhouse showed by his testimony that he acted under orders from the Mayor's office in releasing prisoners, and his anxiety disappeared when he saw that the Grand jury was not after him.

Other witnesses to-day were Marshal Emi Court; Frank Criminal Court, Kiaiber the Criminal Court, Circuit torney Ashley C. Clover, Deputy S. Larry Kickham and Joe Knemer, Erb, chief Deputy Marshal of the District Police Court, Louis clerk of the Second District Court, George Hoeffner a clerk of the Second District Police Court, George Heeffner a professional bondsman and Mollie Lamber and Belle Page, two notorious women. The Criminal Court officials are wanted to testify about the bonds which are forfeited and no collected, and so is Hoeffner. The Police Court officials and Secretary Brennan are being questioned principally upon the traffic in Mayor Noonan's remits and pardons.

"They can see by the books that I've got only about ten remits since Noonan went into office," said he, "and all of those were for friends. I got no money out of it. They were fines that I went good for in the Marshal's office. I promised to pay them if I couldn't get the remits. The Grand-jury ought to get after the men who were in this for stuff. I was only helping friends."

"Who were some of the men who have got as many remits as you have?"

There were thirteen bond forfeitures in the First District Police Court this morning and the same man. Henry Koehler, was on every bond. The defendants are charged with gambling and were arrested several nights ago in a police raid on a game of craps at a saloon on Ninth and Geger avenue. The men, when arrested, gave the names of Ollis Hall, Harry Schnair, Wm. Spath, Jas. J. Watson. Ben Bessinger, Marcell Boettinger, August Miller, Chas. Stevens, Geo. Stevens, Geo. Kisnell, Geo. Sixteen were arrested altogether, and only three of them appeared in court. The case of John Robacek was noile prossed and Guido Merkel and Dan Hart were let off on costs. Koehler, the bondsman of the other thirteen, is connected with the American Brewery. When Ollie Hall's name was called, somebody in the audience answered "aye," but when it became evident that the case was not to be continued, the man falled to show up and Hall was called on his bond. When Schnair's name was called, some one said that he was in a saloon across the street, and Judgé Morris answered that the man must be in the courtroom within ave minutes or his bond would be declared forfeited.

and Hill.

All the men mentioned are ardent supporters of Mr. Cleveland. They are also known to be fearful that the action of the convention to be held at Syracuse may be such as to put Mr. Cleveland in a false attitude before the convention—that of being backed by bolters. The Fennsylvania men are doing their best to get the sixty-four votes of that State—old for Cleveland, and Mr. Dickinson has Michigan's delegation of twenty-eight votes for the ex-President.

delegation of twenty-eight votes for the exPresident.

Christopher C. Baldwin, the Wall street banker, who is said to have spent $25,000 in the Hancock campaign, is one of the provisional committee of fifty and a delegate to the Syracuse convention. Asked about the report that the convention to Chicago would be simply a protesting one, he replied:

"No, sir; we are going to stand by our colors. We will send a contesting delegation to Chicago. What effect would a protesting delegation have? The people are overwhelmingly for Mr. Cleveland and we are voicing helr desire for his nomination."

Becurring to the argument that a contesting delegation from syracuse would look in other States as though the party was seriously split in New York, Mr. Baldwin said:

"We are all good Democrats. We will vote for any good man the convention chooses. If it does not choose to give us Mr. Cleveland, well and good. We will not bolt."

"Unless Mr. Hill is nominated," was suggested.

"Of course," assented the banker. "But of course," assented the banker. "But vill have no voice in the convention. New er settled all that. I believe the matter actically decided."

SILVER MEN. SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS OF THE WASHING TON CONVENTION.

WASHINGTON, D. G., May W.—At D: Do'clock this morning Chairman Warner called the silver convention to order and short addresses were made by Mr. Shine of Ransa and Mr. R. K. Thomas of Pennsylvanis. The latter said that ten years ago his farm was generally regarded by his neighbors as worth $10,000, and since that time he had been even more successful than others in his neighborhood, and had been able by close attention to business and economy to save about $500 per year. This was the result of the labor of every member of his family. But while he had been able to save $500 per year, his farm had, however, depreciated in value even more, and the farm that ten years ago was worth $10,000 in cash, cald not be soid to-day for more than $5,000. This shrinkage he attributed solely to our pervicious financial system, which was being operated in the interest of money lenders, corporations and monopolies. The speaker denounced both leading political parties and said that rather than vote for Grover Cleveland.

Mr. Merrick of Colorado explained to the conventions the somewhat calebrated silver brick case which was recently decided by the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, against an application for a mandamus to compel the Secretary of the Treasury to receive and coin the silver brick which was recently decided by the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, against an application for a mandamus to compel the Secretary of the Treasury to receive and coin the silver brick which was tendered to him. At noon the convention took a recess until 12:30 e'clock this afternoon.

MURDERER HANGED

Edward Speers Suffers the Law's Extreme Penalty.

HE KILLED S. C. HUNT LAST JULY BEAR

Scale a Sixty-Foot Wall-Farmer Buncoed-Banker Indicted-Fatal Quarrel Over an Estate-Polygamist Sentenced

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 77.—Edward Speers, who murdered G. C. Hunt ner Camden, July 1, 1881, was to-day executed at Magnolia, Columbia County. His neck was broken by the fall. Speers is the first white man ever executed in Columbia County.

The crime for which Speers paid the penalty with his life was committed at Guess' mill, eight miles from Magnolia, on the Iron Mountain road. Henry Hunt, the foreman of the mill, was bis victim, Speers shooting him down without provocation or warning.

Speers had been discharged for something, and at the time he and Hunt had a dispute, in the afternoon Hunt had occasion to go to an adjacent pine forest. He was never seen alive again. Next morning his body was discovered where he had been murdered. Speers was suspected of the crime, and, on being arrested, admitted that he had killed Hunt, but claimed he did it in self-defense. His story was that he met Hunt and the two began to quarrel.

Hunt attempted to draw a pistol, when he fired, Killing him. This story was not believed. Speers took a change of wenue from Quachita County to Columbia County, where he was convicted. The case was carried to the Supreme Court, but the decision of the lower court was affirmed. The condemned man was lodged in the penitentiary for safe-keeping. He addressed the following letter to Gov. Eagle yesterday:

To His Excellency, James P. Eagle, Governor of Arkaneas, Little Rock, Ark:

To His Excellency, James P. Eagle, Governor of Arksmans, Little Rock, Ark:

Sin-I address you on a subject of deepest import to myself, and one which I trust may be deemed by your Excellency of sufficient moment to command your most earnest attention, I am confined in the State Fenitentiary for safe-keeping until the 27th of this month, upon which date I am sentenced to be hanged for murder alleged to have been committed in Unachita County, and for which I was tried and convicted in Columbia County. The unfortunate killing I have never denied, but the crime of willful murder I do most emphatically deny, as I have always done. If I be hanged for the safe was the safe of To His Excellency, James P. Eagle, Governor of Arkaneas, Little Rock, Ark.:

Williams, who was arrested at this place suspected of the Denison murders. The Sheriff stated to the Post-Disparch representative that there was some pretty strong circumstantial evidence in the case. That for some time past Boswell's associates had been bad, that the night in question he was said to have been seen in two of the localities where the shooting was done, and that he had secretly left town early the following morning and was traveling under an alias. He will return to Texas on this evening's train, the prisoner expressing a willingness to go without requisition papers.

A VOLLEY FROM BURGLARS.

WARRENTON, Mo., May 27.—At 12:30 this morning burglars attempted to gain an entrance in Drewer's home, one of the boardng houses in connection with the Central pen the widows of the room of Gerhardt and woke Ritter. He, thinking they were students, asked what was wanted and re-ceived a volley of shots in response. The citizens are thoroughly aroused as this is the third attempt. There is considerable talk of organizing a vigilance committee. All strangers are watched and if the guilty parties be found they will no doubt receive rough treatment.

YUBA CITY, Cal., May 27.—A. H. Holland, a wealthy farmer, was driving with a stranger who called himself Judge Love of San Jose yesterday, when they met another man who said he was an agent of the Louisiana lottery. He was willing to explain how the game could be beaten. Holland and the supposed judge each won. Then Holland drew $1,000 from the bank, "Judge Love" put up a like amount and the stranger covered it. It was all put in a tin box and the game began. Holland won. There was only some tron washers in the box he got, though a year ago a neighbor of Holland's was swindled the same way.

Geir, a barber and without provocation shot and killed the proprietor. Lewis made his escape. As Lewis disappeared Geir called to a companion and said: "That man and I never had a quarrel in our lives. I don't know what made him do it." Marshai Janney sent out a detail of officers in pursuit of the murderer. He was captured at Mill Creek at 5 o'clock last evening. There is strong talk of a lynching.

AUDITOR BROWN'S BIG REPORT. What the City Received and Paid Out-

City Hall Matters. City Auditor Brown and his force of as report of that department and presented it in report of that department and presented it in neatly bound form to the Mayor. The report is a massive one, containing over one hundred pages of parchment, closely written. As the Auditor deals principally in figures, the report is consequently made up largely of such entries. Among other things it shows the amount and purpose of every warrant drawn on the City Treasury, from April 11, 1891, to April 11, 1892, the beginning and ending of the last fiscal year. At the opening of the year, the balance in the City Treasury amounted to $2,279.—720.76. The total receipts for the year amounted to $10,014.605,71. The unpaid warrants at the beginning of the year footed up$155,551.26. During the year he amount of the warrants paid out was $9,850,684.63. The unpaid warrants at the close of the year aggregated $160,265.81. The balance remaining in the treasury April 11, 1892, was $2,708.—728.26. The report will, like the others, be given in full with the Mayor's message when it is published.

The Redistricting Law.

The ordinance recently passed by the House the city into 157 precincts for election purposes. This is five precincts less than the present number, which is 152, and 87 less than the number existing prior to 1888. Although the vote of the city has increased largely in the last five years, this number of precincts is doubtless considered all sufficient for the convenience of the voters and the work of the judges and clerks of election, by Recorder of Voters Carlisle, who dafted the ordinance and suggested the number of districts. The new precinct lines are made to conform to the new ward and congressional boundary lines, where they meet. The senatorial and representative districts will be so divided by the Circuit Court as not to cross at any point a precinct, ward or congressional line. As soon as the ordinance becomes a law the Circuit Court the city into 157 precincts for election pur Court as not to cross at any point a precinct, ward or congressional line. As soon as the ordinance becomes a law the Circuit Court will be ready to take up and divide the city into senatorial and representative districts. This will be at the coming June term, the latest. Both parties will be ready to put their candidates for the Legislature in the field es soon as the districting is made by the court. While the court has authority to divide the city for the proposed manicipal district courts under the Devoy bill, it will not likely do so until 1894, when the operation of the law goes into effect. This act abolishes the present justice-of-the-peace system and provides for the creation of nine courts with nine judges who may sit in banc, and a corresponding number of constables, assistants and clerks. The Circuit Court makes the territorial district is which the judges are elected and their jurisdiction. The judges and constables and their many assistants, and the clerks, etc., are to be paid salaries. No reduction has been made in the costs to be paid by those who are compelled to go into them with their cases, although it is claimed these courts will not cost the people so much as the present justice-of-the-peace system.

General Superintendent John F. Duffy of the Street Department returned from Chicago this morning, where he went to look into the construction of the boulevards into the construction of the boulevards are that town. In Chicago the boulevards are very costly luxuries. There the Park Board assesses the cost of such improvements while the system here is entirely different. Mir. Duffy was favorably impressed with the manner of construction. To a Post-Disparch reporter he said: "The base of the Chicago boulevard is made of macadam eight inches thick, tightly compressed by heavy rollers. On top of this comes a layer of crushed granite three inches in thickness also well rolled and then on top of this is laid a layer of very finely crushed granite. Finely screened gravel is used as the binding material. This is a good system of construction, but the cost is considerable. The boulevard in front of Lake Michigan, I understand, cost $24 a foot."

Six months ago the Brotherhood of Train-men, Order of Railway Conductors and Order of Railway Telegraphers made a demand for standard wages, but up to the present time no reply has been received from the com-pany. Testerday General Manager Odell and General Superintendent Patton held a conference with a committee representing the ference with a committee representing the three organizations and some concessions were offered, but the men rejected them. After the conference telegrams were sent to Grand Chief Wilkinson of Chicago, Grand Chief Clark of Cedar Rapids and Grand Chief Ramsey of East St. Louis requesting them to come on at once. The officials are expected in a few days when a definite line of action will be decided upon.

LONDON, May 27.—The ballot of the Durham miners shows to-day a large majority against accepting the terms of the coal owners of a reduction of 18½ per cent. The miners are willing to take a 10 per cent reduction, but they believe that the masters, in demanding a greater reduction, see trying to take advantage of the situation of the miners and to make them accept terms that under other circumstances would not be suggested. Another appeal has been made to coal owners and others throughout the country to sustain the Durham strikers and the miners have been much encouraged by the contributions that have come in during the past few days.

A WARRANT FOR MULLALLY. A Well-Known Broker Charged With Em-

A warrant was sworn out yesterday after-noon by Patrick Madden against Joseph J. Mulially, formerly President of the Mining Exchange, charging him with embezzlement, For several weeks past it has been known that Mulially was in difficulties and was unable to meet his obligations. The charge is that some time ago Madden gave Mulially an order to buy Granite Mountain. This order suaded Madden to leave the stock in his hands, Mullally to collect and remit the dividends.

It is stated that as Treasurer of the old Maj. Budd, now the Leo, he retained a large proportion of the funds realized by the last assessment of 'ye cent.

Samuel Schwab, for whom Mullally had long acted as broker, became suspicious, and came to the city to investigate. Mullally, it is stated, admitted that he had used the money, but would soon be able to replace it. On this understanding, and on Mullally agreeing to turn over a considerable amount of property to the company, no prosecution was instituted.

D. C. Beffa is one of his creditors, holding a judgment for $118$ against him for stock which Mullally sold for him, and the proceeds of which he never accounted for.

Mr. Mullally was seen at his usual haunts on Third street to-day, and in speaking of the article in a morning paper said he thought it was inspired by some one bearing malice toward him. It was said Mr. Mullally could not be found at his home last night nor at his place of business during the day. He said he went to the races yesterday with a party of friends, returned home to supperearly in the evening and did not leave his home last night. As to the charge of embezziement, he said, he was not guilty. The person who swore out the warrant, he stated, held a promissory note and instead of proceeding in a civil action was attempting to collect it by means of a criminal prosecution. Nor was there any truth in the statement that he was short in his accounts as treasurer of the Leo Mining Co. The Board of Directors of the company hold his note, she said, secured by a deed of trust on some city real estate many times the value of the amount of the note. Mr. Mullally admitted, however, that he "went broke," but he would not long remain so, as he had interests which would soon pay well, and all his troubles would disappear.

To-day the warrant was temporarily with-drawn, pending an investigation.

N. E. Cor. Twelfth and Franklin Av. Partition Sale, East Door of Court-House, THURSDAY NOON, JUNE 9.

This is the very best corner on that great and growing thoroughfare, Franklin av.; viewed from the south it can be distinctly seen from the Union Depot, 14 blocks away, owing to Twelfth or High st. diverging 10 or 15 feet to the west on Franklin av. The lot is 26x103 feet to a 12-foot alley. The improvements consist of a substantial 3-story brick building, renting for $1,200 per annum; values on both Franklin av. and Twelfth st. are rapidly increasing, and with the completion of the new passenger depot of the C., B. & Q. R. R. at Broadway and Biddie, Franklin av. will experience an unprecedented boom.

ne of the most horrible of revengeful of inngerous lunatics in the nation. The facts regarding the following incident have been public with the hope of locating the das-tardly perpetrator of the horrible attempt, but as there seems to be no clew whatever he facts are now allowed to be made public Last Friday evening Miss Anna Furrow and her sister, Miss Mary Furrow, attended prayer-meeting at the First M. E. Church, her sister, Miss Mary Furrow, attended prayer-meeting at the First M. E. Church, as is their custom, and while en route home they suppose they were followed from Monroe greet, on Walnut, to their home, No. 131 North Walnut street, by the man who made the cowardly attempt. Miss Anna says that just as she and her sister were in the act of turning from the main thoroughfare to go up the walk which led to the door of their home, a peculiar feeling stole over her and she quickly turned just in time to discover a man in the act of throwing something squarely in her face. She hastly turned her back and fied, but not an instant too soon, for the upraised hand descended, and a liquid was thrown upon her back, shoulders and arms. She and her sister both screamed and hastily entered the house. It was very soon discovered that some powerful acid had been throw upon her, as the cloak which she wore was seen in ruins, being burned as though by fire, as was also her dress, wherever the drug came in contact with them. The villian made his escape and all the efforts of the police have been to no avail in discovering the miscream. She describes the fellow as being fairly well dressed, about five feet seven inches in height, light mustacte, little black slouch hat. He did not wear a mask. Miss Furrow cannot assign any reason for the deed.

sets estimated at $140,000. Of the assets $125,000 is in real estate in this city. The firm two months ago issued $40,500 in bonds, and at the time the assets were estimated at $200,000, of which $125,000 was real estate, $25,000 machinery and the remainder cash and accounts. The firm has been in business here thirty-five years and has done a large trade in machinery for steamboats. Five years ago Aibert Ainslee sold out and $60,000 worth of bonds was issued to pay for his share. The failure is due to dull business for the past two seasons. It is believed they will pay out in full.

He arrived from Italy on April 18, and was locked up on the island away from other people. When he shouted to some of his countrymen, a man who, he said, wore a uniform, struck him with a cane. The same official struck him several times that day. He saked for food on April 20, he said, and another officer told him he would have to buy it. He gave this officer 35 and got some bread and meat, but no change. From that time until May 20 he had to pay for everything he got. He escaped from Ellis Island on May 28 in a row boat, he said. His trunks, one of which contained an order for $1,000 on an Italian bank in this city, he was compelled to leave behind. He went for the trunks on Monday, according to his story, and paid another official isl for them. This man told him he could not take the trunks himself, but must get one of the regular expressmen. The latter individual charged him $2 more. Marconi waited until yesterday for the trunks and then decided to ask for police aid. He was sent to police headquarters, but did not call there during the day. during the day.

anti-Harrison leaders who have been conferring among themselves, if not with the idol of their party, since his arrival in New York a few days ago, the nominee of the Minneapolis Convention is now the guest of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and his name is James G. Blaine. What lends color to the assertion that a definite plan has been agreed upon and a clear understanding with the man of Maine arrived at is the fact that the man of Maine arrived at is the fact that the proposed conference of Platt and other anti-Harrison men, which was given out would be held at the Fifth Avenue last night, did not fillbastering will be kept up until it is definitely settled that a nomination is impossible. Then, when all hope of nominating Harrison or settling on any other candidate is abandoned, Blaine will be called upon as the only person to break the deadlock, and he will be nominated with a hurrah which will be cyclonic in its effects, completely carrying the Harrison phalanx off its feet.

A quietness prevailed which betokened that a conclusion had been reached and a matter of great moment fully determined. Here is the plan which it is reliably stated Here is the plan which it is reliably stated will be pursued by the Blaine people when the forces are aligned for battle at Minneapolis: Word has been sent to the faithful that only most pronounced supporters of Mr. Blaine among the Minneapolis delegates shall cast a vote for their favorites on the first ballot. The balance of the uninstructed vote will be thrown to favorite sons, and the filbustering will be kept up until it is definitely settled that a nomination is im-

The repopt that Mr. Blaine had told a member of the Cabinet (presumably Mr. Eikins) that he would write another and still stronger letter of withdrawal if the President desired it none of the Republican leaders believe true. Mr. Blaine has said repeatedly, they declare, that he would write no more letters on that subject. They do not think there is any understanding between the President and Mr. Blaine.

any understanding beautiful and Mr. Blaine.

A gentleman in close relations with Mr. Blaine said to-day: "Ten years ago Blaine told me that no man had a right to decline told me that no man had a right told me that no man had a righ

Blaine said to-day: "Ten years ago Blaine told me that no man had a right to decline the formal nomination for President. 'He can use every effort,' were the words he used, 'to keep the nomination from coming to him, but after the convention acts he cannot decline to serve. It is his duty to accept.' Mr. Blaine still holds to that opinion as to the ethics of the case, and all of his close friends know it. If he is nominated at Minneapolis he will accept."

The admiration for Blaine must be very gratifying to the statesman. The crystallization of sentiment in his favor is almost without a parallel. A prominent Republican sums up the situation this way: "It seems to me," he said, "that the only members of the party who are opposed to Blaine's nomination are Ben and Russell Harrison, and perhaps a few other unknown relations of the President. Even the office holders, who will feel it their duty to shout for Harrison at the convention, would, to a man, prefer Blaine a thousand times, and this feeling is as spontaneous as it is marvelous. Seeing this, Harrison should gracefully step aside and join the Blaine ranks, and, unlikely as it may seem, I would not be struck dead with surprise if he were to do it, if he finds he cannot force Blaine to put a damper on the furore by writing another letter."

NOT GOING TO DIE.

Review of the Week's Business-Outlook

CLEVELAND, O., May 77.—The Iron Trade Review says of the condition of trade: The staple complaint of four months and more, that furnace production was continually out of proportion to consumptive capacity, has given place in the past fortnight to the complaint that floods have greatly curtailed trade in all lines. As far as the iron trade is concerned the immediate untoward result will be most apparent in hardware lines.
The day of improvement in ore freight is still The day of improvement in ore freight is still postponed. More than that, there has been a backward tendency in the past few days that brought Escamaba charters to 7 cents on Tuesday, and ashland tonnage was covered at 31.15 on Wednesday, after vesselmen had refused that figure on the day before. With about two-thirds the output of Bessemer sold, that side of the market will not be heard from to any extent in the near future. The shipping probabilities of the Messaba range have not cut any figure in the calculations for the present season, as railroad and dock constructions are not likely to be completed soon. There is doubt, too, as to the auspices under which properties other than the biwable will be worked. P. B. Kimberly will not work the Cincinnati, Kanawha and Hale as originally reported, the deal to that end having fallen through.

The latest from the Messaba is the advice received by Cleveland parties interested there that an offer of 65 cents royalty had been made for a lease of their mine, with a minimum output of 180,000 tons. The company's agent on the ground was instructed to close the deal. Pig iron buyers are in the market frequently enough, but only to engage a tiding-over supply: The largest transaction of the week was for 2,500 tons—the output for the next few weeks of a small furnace in north central Ohlo. Prices are still at an unquotable distance from the nominal market. There is a prospect of further furnace curtailment and the coke district is preparing to put more ovens on the idle list. A Birmingham dispatch that a reduction of 50 cents a ton to Pittsburg points had been made for Southern iron by railroads north of the Ohlo, the reduced rate to begin May 24, and last one week, is news to railroad officials in Cleveland, who would know of such a move had it been made. The day of improvement in ore freight is still

On the night of Jan. 25, the patrol wagon answered a call on Third street. There, Hallie McClain was found almost destitute of the necessities of life. She had suffered a stroke of paralysis and was unable to speak. She was taken to the City Hospital. Since then, her life has been despaired of several times, but now, she is greatly improved. She is still unable to tak and the most singular part of the story is that her past life is a blank. She remembers absolutely nothing of her early life and has even forgotten her father's first name. Her sister visits her regularly at the hospital and, although their parents have repeatedly entreated them, they refuse to return to those whom they have dishonored.

Tuesday evening will mark the beginning of the Feast of Weeks, or Shabbuoth, an ancient Jewish festival on which the first ripe fruits of the season were offered up to God on the altar. This feast occurs on the sixth of Sivan, or the sixth day of the third month. Confirmation day is celebrated with much solemnity and the expensaies in the synagogues will be impressive.

To Build a New Convent.

The ladies of the Sacred Heart have secured a permit to erect their new convent on their property on the west side of Taylor avenue, between Maryland and Berlin avenues. The edifice is to replace their convent buildings at Chouteau avenue and Broadway. Architect J. H. McNamara has prepared the plans. The twenty orphans who are cared for by the nuns in fulfillment of the will of Bryan Mullanphy will find a home in the new convent.

Protestant Orphans' Asylum Reception the annual reception of the St. Rolls Pro-testant Orphans' Asylum will take place at the institution in Webster, on Tuesday, May 31. Trains leave Union Depot at 1:25, and Grand, avenue at 1:30 p. m. Two extra coaches will be added to this train, and tickets may be obtained at either place with reduced rates for this occasion. Mrs. Hoyt's maiden name was Amie Marie Feil, and when she married George Hoyt, she was the widow of Baron von Balina. One year after her birth she was sared for by her auat, Marie Sonntag, the noted singer, who reared and educated her. When scarcely 6 years of age she made her debat in concert on the stage of the Theatre Francais, Paris. When is years old she made a tour of Europe with her aunt, finally locating at Vienna, It was here that she first met Baron von Balina, whose parents were both influential and wealthy.

After a brief courtship the two were married and devoted a large portion of their time in traveling. Two years later, while the Baroness was in a critical condition at her home in Philadelphia, her husband died in Vienna from heart disease. Although the Baron came from wealthy parents, he being the youngest son, she will not lisherit his fortune for some years.

Mrs. Hoyt at her Francais residence in Denver, told a part of her life history to the Post-Distracts correspondent. George Hoyt was a son of ar-Gor. Hoyt of Fennsylvania. George Hoyt's estate is valued at over 18,000,000.

If first met George Hoyt five years before our marriage. We lived in the same city and of of which his widow expects to receive at ant $3,000,000.

I first met George Hoyt five years before it marriage. We lived in the same city and it we can other frequently. We took a strong may to each other from the first, and i will indicity confess we loved each other dearly, the month of January, 1889, two years ter my husband's death we came to Densand were secretly married by a Justice of the Feace. We remained in Denver for seven onths and then went back East. In Ohigo my husband was then sick and for the fit flute our marriage became known. After a feet flute our marriage became known. After the recovery we immediately went to Wikestre, where I stopped with his parents who ntertained me most royally. After that we sited various portions of the East and through the aggregate amount may reach a million.

"I am a great lover of horses and dogs, and last week purchased a pair of stallions, the equal or which cannot be found in Colorado. My one great object in life is the good I can do the poor and unfortunate. Through the aid of God I have become the possessor of a fortune amounting to almost a million.

"I own the Hotel Hoyt at Aransas Pass, Tex., and here in Denver have many lots and valuable ranches. I loved my hosband dearly, and his parents always proved friends of mins."

Mrs. Hoyt is a handsome woman, scarcely Syears of age. She lives in a regular paiaco, which is furnished gorgeously. She has a score of servants and as many dogs.

Her stable is the most extensive in Denver. Besides being a charming conversationalist she is a delightful entertainer. Her deeds of kindness have saved many unfortunates, and no one envise her her good fortune.

Two Men Injured in an Oil Explosion at Mante's Mina.

An explosion in the oil house at John Mante's coal mine in South Belleville injured two miners at 7a. m. to-day. The miners, Julius Gaertner and William Igott, went into the oil house for supplies, carrying lighted lamps with them. A fire was caused by one of the lamps being held too close to an oil barrel and an explosion resulted. The roof of the house was blown off by the explosion and the door being closed, the miners were prevented from making their escape until a watchman on the outside reopened the door. Gaertner was badly burned and may die. The flames goorched his legs, arms, breast and neck. Hewas attended by Dr. D. S. Booth and later was removed to his home, No. 504 South Charles street. Izott though painfully burned, was not dangerously injured. He was able to walk to his home near the mine. The oil house was consumed, but the fire department prevented the destruction of the other buildings.

METHODS BY WHICH ANSON AND COMISKRY ACHIEVE THEIR ENDS.

The Browns Lose a Game at Brooklyn-The Coney Island Athletic Club Offer Purse for McAuliffe and Myer-Yes day's Races at the Fair Grounds-

The sudden removal of Cub Stricker from the captainship of the Browns last week has resulted in a good deal of interest being aroused over the question as to what qualiions are necessary to insure a player's ess as the captain of a team. He should, start with, be a first-class player.
is very seldom that a player of does rank high in his poon is placed in control of a club. The fact, however, that he is a successful player does not by any means indicate that he is capable of handling a club. Team work is the most important item after get-ting together players of ability in their the most important item after getting together players of ability in their respective positions. Record players and disorganizers must be sitted out. One of either is sufficient to spoil everything. All the great captains, Anson, Comiskey and Ward, handle their charges in this manner. Anson is a great example for aspiring young players who hope to lead a champlon team to study. The old man, as he is referred to in the Windy City by almost every crank, is the greatest captain of them all. His success is, however, partly due to the fact that he is supreme in all matters pertaining to the Chicago players on and off the field. He has no president, manager or board of directors to run counter to his wishes. When Anson became convinced that he cannot handle a player or that he will have a great deal of trouble doing so he gets rid of the man as soon as possible. Kelly, Clarkson, Gore, Baidwin, Daly and Pfeffer were all either sold or let go by the Chicago management, because Anson wanted it so. He thought he could get along better without them, and the result was they went. Anson is convinced that team work cannot be attained as long as disorganized or dissatisfied or unruly players hold lorth, and the best player on the diamond would not be permitted to play under that man if his authority over him is not respected.

While Comiskey is a player who uses his brains as well as his hands, the main cause for his success lies in his earnestness and ability to arouse enthusiasm and keep up the interest among his players. The result is they play with snap and never quit until the game is finished. John M. Ward, Brooklyn's brainy captain, is also considered an Al man in this position. Always playing the game for what there is in it, he manages to get the same class of work out of his men. Ward, however, has always been given teams of first-class men to handle, which is not the case as far as Anson and Comiskey are concerned.

BROOKLYN DEFEATS THE BROWNS.

BROOKLIN DEFEATS THE BROWNS.

The Browns opened at Brooklyn yesterday and the home team came out on top. Breiten stein, who fooled Brooklyn's big sluggers the last time he went in against them, when but one hit was made off his delivery, was pounded at will. Haddock was also hit hard. pounded at will. Haddock was also hit hard. The support accorded him, however, prevented the Browns from scoring in several innings. Brooklyn won the contest in the fourth inning, when Glasscock's error while handling Dalley's grounder, Haddock'ssafe hit and Ward's base on balls, filled the bags. Joyce then hit safely and Dailey and Haddock scored, and Brouthers' double scored Ward and Joyce. Capt. Crooks was ordered out of the game in the second inning for kicking. Stricker replaced him. The summary was as follows: Brooklyn, 6; Browns, 1. Base hits—Brooklyn, 1; Browns, 1; Browns, 2; Browns, 1; Browns, 2; Browns, 3; Browns, 8; Brietenstein and Buckley. Umpire, Lynch.

THE THEF.

THE TURF. Col. Jack P. Chinn, the well-known starter, who officiated at the meeting which closed at Lexington recently, passed through the city yesterday on his way to Denver, where he will act as judge at the running meeting of the Overland Club, which opens there next week. Col. Chinn says the filly Deerfoot, who was killed in the race for the Clipsetta Stakes at Latonia Tuesday, was his personal property, although being handled by his brother-in-law, George W. Morgan, under whose colors she run. "It was the third race in which she had started," he said. "She finished first in the other two. She was the best-looking filly I ever saw, and I valued her at $20.000.

The Colonel has settled his trouble with the Garfield Park management. "By terms were accepted," said Chinn, "and of course that put an end to the affair. After the Denver meeting I shall return to this city and await the opening of the course across the river, Col. Jack P. Chinn, the well-known starter, where I shall do the starting the coming summer."

The wonderful work of Aloha here, Chinn says, aroused considerable interest in the horse at Louisville and Cincinnati. Everyone over there thinks that Balgowan will outrun him. According to Chinn Hichmond, Balgowan's owner, intends to bring his crack to this city and run him in the Fair Grounds Handicap, where he expects to try conclusions with Aloha Wadsworth, the other Kentucky hor se, over whom so much talk has been indulged in, Chinn says, will be over here also to contest in that stake. Chinn says he saw Aloha perform at Gardiel Park last fall and was not much impressed with his work. Balgowan, in his opinion, can defeat Aloha at equal weights.

the suspicious work of a stable boy named Harmon who rode Tim Murphy, the favorite. Judge Carter came to the conclusion that the horse was pulsed and in consequence declared all bets off. The jockey was ruled off the course and Cy. Mulkey the trainer was requested to leave the grounds. George Taylor was also suspended for thirty days for going to sleep on Estelle in the fourth race. After taking the race, Taylor thought he had a snap. Johnnie Weber, however, surprised him in the stretch by coming through with a rush on Hoodlum and Defore Taylor could get down to work again he was beaten by a neck. The local owners again made a splendid showing. P. J. Mullally captured the second race with his chestnut filly Montana Belle, the Merchants and Manufacturers stakes were won by the chestnut colf. Gayoso, which is the property of Otto Stifel, a son of Charles G. Stifel, the wealthy brewer, and the Charter Oak stable, another local string, won the last race with Minnie Cee, a 8-year-old chestnut filly. The opening scramble was won by Reuben Payne, a 7to 1 shot, who defeated Tim Murphy, the favorite, by a neck. Montana Belle, who came out 5 to 1, won the second race with ease; Gayoso, who went to the post solling at 7 to 2, won the third event, and is the leading winner; Sullivan, who closed the second choice at 1% to 1, was successful in the fourth race in the same manner; Hoodlum, the second choice at 1% to 1, was successful in the fourth race by an even length. ALOHA NOT FOR SALE.

J. P. Smallwood, the owner of Aloha, has set at rest all efforts to gain possession of the set at rest all efforts to gain possession of the horse by absolutely refusing to name a price for him. Aloha's sire, imported St. Mungo, died before he had a chance in the stud, yet he got, in addition to this great horse, that erratic but sometimes beautiful performer, Hornpipe. He was a son of St. Albans, one of the most sensational winners of the Doncaster St. Leger. Aloha's dam, Ollie, is a daughter of Virgil, sire of Tremont, Hindoo and other famous performers.

Mr. Rowe, as starter, in supplying the place so long filled by Mr. Caldwell, has challenged a lot of attention, says a Gotham turf authority. His work has not been uniform, but it has been quite sufficiently so to demon-strate that when he arouses himself he always makes a good start. His main danger strate that when he arouses himself he always makes a good start. His main danger is underestimating his position and pursuing a policy of too great inactivity. He needs to put snap into his work and to infuse a lot of it into his assistants. Horses cannot be herded like horned cattle, nor does the fining of jockeys in any way conduce to good starting. Mr. Rowe is in a position of tremendous responsibility, with power that is practically limitless. Its proper exercise demands qualities that few possess. Mr. Rowe has them in a very large degree, and should be among the first to appreciate the importance of utilizing them to the advantage of the public and to the furtherance of his own fame. He has his career, literally and otherwise, in his own hands, and his best friends are they who praise him for his good work, and who, when he makes mistakes, as he and all other men are bound to do, will point them out.

Tom Britton, the crack colored jockey, was interviewed Monday at Cincinnati in regard to his dismissal by Scoggan Bros. Britton stated that on the day he was beaten by Court Lore at Louisville, Mr. George Scoggan had expressed his dissatisfaction at the way Buck McCune had been ridden, and that he (Britton) had then and there asked for his release. It is a positive fact that Britton has been endeavoring to got released from his contract with Scoggan Bros. ever since last full. This spring Britton was offered $0.00 a year to ride for the stable of Chas. Fielschmann, but could not accept on account of his engagement with Scoggan Bros. During the above interview Maj. Richmond, owner of Baigowan and other noted horses, stated that he had signed Britton for the balance of the season.

George Slosson, the billisrd player who was defeated by Frank Ives last Saturday evening at Chicago, has returned to his home in New York. When questioned as to what he thought of his conqueror Slosson said:

"Ives plays a magnificent game, He hasn't the Shaefer touch, nor is he as graceful a player as Jake, but that he can play great billiards can not be denied.
